If you pour yourself out for the hungry and satisfy the needs of the afflicted, then shall your light shine in the nighttime and your darkness be bright as noon.

A Focus on the Hungry and the Homeless in Our Community and Abroad

M & Ms at Temple Beth Hillel

by Rabbi Sarah Hronsky

In a year of telling our stories, Temple Beth Hillel is looking for the M & Ms in our community, the Mitzvah Menschim (“im” being plural). Mensch, a Yiddish noun, means a person of integrity and honor. Someone who is a mensch has a deep sense of what is right, is responsible, and a person of noble character. Leo Rosten, author of The Joy of Yiddish, describes a mensch as someone to admire and emulate.

And mitzvah literally translates to the word “commandment or deed.” Yet this word has been adopted into American English as “good deed.” This has probably occurred for as many of the commandments in our Torah that are based on ethical matters such as caring for the poor, providing for the stranger, honoring our parents, and fair practice in business.

There are many many individuals in our TBH community who are compassionate, responsible, role models, who maintain a deep commitment to what is right, and make sure to give of themselves for significant causes in our world. The stories and examples are numerous. This year we would like to acknowledge them and pass on the title of Mitzvah Mensch.

A few examples of Mitzvah Menschim:

Rabbi Jim Kaufman is a Mitzvah Mensch when he brings his guitar and enthusiasm each month to our Moses Program Shabbat experience. He lifts his voice in song, encouraging adults with special needs to join him, and teaches Jewish values. When you walk into the room on these precious Saturday afternoons, you can’t help but feel the joy and happiness that radiates. Rabbi Jim and all of his assistants are Mitzvah Menschim!

Ben Kushnir, a young man who just became a bar mitzvah, is a Mitzvah Mensch. He not only has shown the deep character, integrity, and responsibility it takes to be called to the Torah, but he maintains his commitment to Scouting and to the North Hollywood Food Pantry. Ben volunteers on Sundays to package food and has also participated in the distribution of our food bags. Ben became emotionally invested by getting to know the community of volunteers and the community who receives the much needed food support. Thank you Ben for being a Mitzvah Mensch.

Marcia and Audrey Friedman, a mother and daughter team, are Mitzvah Menschim. Together they have given hours of service and dedication to Temple Beth Hillel. And they also give their hearts and souls towards AID Project with 26 years of participation in the AIDS Walk. This year they were both named “Star Walkers” and raised over $8200 for this amazing cause. Audrey and Marcia are admirable people of noble character. They are Mitzvah Menschim!

And, you may not know Zoe Stevens a soon to be bat mitzvah, whose family is deeply committed to being Mitzvah Menschim. Zoe has parents who volunteer their time serving as leaders at Temple and in the greater community. And Zoe herself is also a Mitzvah Mensch having chosen to commit herself to caring for animals in need. You may find her on a Sunday volunteering with animal adoptions, or if you visit her at home witness her playing with one special puppy whose surgery and fostering process by her family lead to his adoption.

The stories in our community are endless, and we want to hear your stories. We want to honor TBH members who lead by example, and we want to support your endeavors.

A mensch is someone we should desire to emulate. When you share your stories with us, you allow our community to look up to you and be inspired. Please take the time to send a short note, include a picture, to mitzvahmensch@tbhla.org

What qualifies a person to be a Mitzvah Mensch? It could be as simple as a child who draws a picture to send to someone who is ill. It could be the person who set up someone’s home for shiva. It could be a person who writes letters to soldiers overseas every week. It could be the person who knits baby blankets and hats for newborns. It could be the person who provides for the stranger, honoring our parents, and souls towards AIDS Project with 26 years of participation in the AIDS Walk.

If you know someone who is a Mitzvah Mensch, let us acknowledge them and honor them! Look to your community, the Mitzvah Menschim!

Shalom,
Rabbi Sarah Hronsky

Although you are reading this in November, I am writing this column in September, right after Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. So, I’d like to begin with a few “thank yous.” Thank you to our clergy for the inspirational services. Thank you to our cantor, song leaders and choir for the beautiful music. Thank you to our executive director for managing the busy days of the High Holy Days season. Thank you to our staff who pitched in as needed. Thank you to our security, maintenance and parking crews. Thank you to Brotherhood for putting up our Sukkah. And thank you to our congregants. Thank you for your support of our High Holy Days Annual Appeal—it’s not too late if you haven’t yet contributed! Thank you all for your patience as we rolled out the name-tag admission process.

Now that the High Holy Days are past and our schools are in full swing, Temple Beth Hillel is moving forward with several events, programs and projects. In addition to our adult education offerings, our fund-raising activities, and Mitzvah Day (just to name a few), we are moving forward with other initiatives to keep TBH strong.

One of these projects is growing our base of involved lay leaders. In this issue, there is an article by our Leadership Chair, Kim Hirsch, inviting members to join our committees. Taking an active role in TBH, its operations and its programs, is a great experience. In addition to helping the temple and getting to know staff and other congregants better, it is a wonderful way to show our children that TBH matters and that we can all help to make our community a better place. I hope you will review Kim’s article and contact her. We welcome your involvement.

TBH has also been very active in reaching out to the community to grow our membership and to welcome our new members. We have staffed booths at the Studio City Farmers Market and the Sherman Oaks Street Fair. Our new member reception was held at the end of October. If you know of anyone who might be interested in joining TBH, please share their names with our executive director, our clergy or our school department heads. If you have any ideas for membership activities, please let me know.

Another one of our exciting plans is a strategic planning initiative. At the beginning of my term of office, I wrote a column about what the synagogue of the 21st Century will be. This question is one that the Board of Trustees has been contemplating for some time. We understand that the synagogues that worked for the Greatest Generation and the Baby Boomers may need to be updated to meet the needs of Gen X-ers and Millennials. With this in mind, the Board is moving forward on a strategic planning initiative to provide us with direction for the next several years. Expect to hear more about this in the coming months.

This is just a list of only some of the exciting plans our Board and our Committees are making. As always, if you would like to discuss these plans or any other matters with me, please email me at President@tbhla.org.
Together with Women of TBH, we had a great time hosting Bingo Bistro for our members on October 11th. Special thanks to Mark Singer for handling Bingo Caller duties.

TBH Brotherhood believes we should think of November as "Mitzvah Month." Mitzvah Day is November 1st - please volunteer! And we are preparing for our 15th annual Thanksgiving Day Feast of Caring, where we provide a festive meal for nearly 1,000 people in our community. This project not only provides a meaningful public service but instills in our TBH family the importance of embracing the Jewish value of tikkan olam, helping to heal the world and make a difference.

For volunteer opportunities and other questions, please email us at brotherhood@tbhla.org. You can also call us at 818-763-9148. Brotherhood members meet the first Thursday of each month at 7pm in room 21/22.

Throughout childhood, my parents were involved with Jewish War Veterans. Every holiday was a time to give something to those that were at one of many VA facilities. We wrapped candy, made some kind of usable craft—whatever my Mom decided would recognize the holiday and let the veterans know they were not forgotten. It was entwined in everything that we did—you never knew where that next great gift idea was. We knew that our family was safe and able to openly celebrate Jewish holidays, because of the service of these men and women.

As we enjoy the festival season, each of us has memories of past celebrations with friends and families. What are your stories? Share them—they make all of our lives richer. How we celebrate enriches our lives, our family and our community. Creating Jewish holiday traditions builds a future for our community and sacred memories for our friends and family, entwining tzedakah into the fabric of the celebration helps add meaning and make it even more special. Bring your stories to our Chanukah celebration.

One of our traditions is the Chanukah Boutique. Each year Women of TBH invites you and the community to come shop and prepare for Chanukah. There are gifts, Chanukiot, food and community. Much to enjoy. This year a very special children’s Chanukah festival includes music, books, crafts and merchandise just for kids. We will also be collecting gifts for those in need. Collection boxes will be placed in the Feldman Horn Mercaz. Proceeds from the Boutique go to support social service projects here and around the world.

The Chanukah Boutique is November 22. Invite your friends and join us for a great day!

A MULTIDENOMINATIONAL CONVERSATION SERIES
PREMIERING OCTOBER 25, 2015

How have the concepts of “justice” and “righteousness” evolved within Jewish tradition?

How do North American and Israeli Jewish communities differ in their discussion of justice?

What dilemmas and challenges does building a just and righteous community raise?

Engaging current challenges in North America and Israel, this series will explore the role of justice and righteousness in Jewish life today. We will consider what these Jewish values demand of us, how moral courage should be expressed, and the requirements and parameters of justice in the public square. We will examine these issues in light of the multiple dimensions of North American Jewish identity.

Words have power. Words are so powerful they are used to create the world. In the Book of Genesis says God says, “Let there be light,” and there was light (Gen. 1:3). And each time a new aspect of the creation story is formed, it is because God speaks the world into being.

So too, the words that we say to one another verbally in conversation or in writing in text messages or on social media have so much power. It is vitally important to use our words for good whether we are talking about ourselves, our children, other TBH community members, or our congregation. Words have so much power. As a sacred community we value each and every member whether congregant or staff and want to treat everyone with dignity.

There was a meme circulating on social media recently that embodies how we all hope to use language using the word THINK. This mnemonic is something that we can teach our children and something that we can model every day with our own words.

How might our own communication change if we were to utilize this mnemonic? Might we delete that comment on Facebook or type but not send that text? There are so many wonderful things to share with our friends and family about our lives, and in particular about our experiences with Temple Beth Hillel and its schools. This does not mean that everything is perfect all of the time. We ask that you THINK about this mnemonic when talking about TBH, our staff, and our programs and if there is a problem, please let the appropriate staff person know. Our doors are always open.

Further along in Genesis it describes the human being as being created B’tzelem Elohim, in the image of God. Like God with our words we can create or destroy. May we all THINK before we speak and help to enrich our lives and the lives of those we encounter each day.

Before you speak:

THINK

T = Is it True?
H = Is it Helpful?
I = Is it Inspiring?
N = Is it Necessary?
K = Is it Kind?

Exciting Fall Events for Pack 311
by Glenn Cote
Cubmaster, Cub Scout Pack 311

It’s no secret that community service is a big part of Scouting, which is why this November 1st— as every year — Pack 311 looks forward to kicking off November by participating in TBH’s Mitzvah Day. The following Sunday, on November 7, Scouts from all over Southern California will enjoy Boy Scout Day at Staples Center, where Pack 311 will root for the LA Kings after conducting a few science experiments on the ice before the game—one of the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) events that will help the Scouts earn their NOVA STEM Awards. The very next day, on November 8th, the boys and their families will take part in a Hiking Team event in Wilacre Park (Studio City) and then on November 19 we’ll have our November Pack meeting in the Mercaz. Our last pack activity for November is another community service project— helping at the TBH Brotherhood Feast of Caring on Thanksgiving Day.

December 5 will find us hiking Eagle Rock (Topanga Canyon) and camping overnight at Temple Beth Hillel Invites You:

Our last meeting in the Mercaz for 2015 will be on December 17, when the boys will receive their Pinewood Derby kits. One of the most popular and successful family activities in Cub Scouting, the Pinewood Derby features small wooden model cars that Cub Scouts make themselves (with help from their families). Then they get to race the cars in an exciting competition! The cars are powered by gravity and run down a track. We give out trophies not only for winning races, but for these accomplishments as well: Most Patriotic, Best Cub Scout Theme, Funniest, Most Realistic Race Car, Best Detail, and Most Unusual. The Derby will be held on January 31.

Pack 311 welcomes boys in first through fifth grades, or 7–10 years of age, from all religious and family backgrounds. For more information, visit www.cubpack311.com

The definition of low self-esteem, or LSE, is believing that you are inadequate/flawed, unworthy, unlovable, and/or incompetent. It is very important to recognize the signs of LSE and begin to break its hold on you.

All individuals with LSE experience fear and anxiety stemming from their belief that they are inadequate and incompetent in one or more areas of their lives. Furthermore, they worry that at any moment they may unknowingly reveal their defects to the world, and, in the process, bring criticism, disapproval, and rejection upon themselves.

LSE may happen to all of us at one time or another, however, if LSE is negatively impacting your life, then it must be considered vital in order to make changes. In my experiences working with clients, I have found the causes of LSE to vary in each individual. Some clients have had negative experiences in their lives as children, and some are affected by negative life experiences in the present. In any event, the causes need to be understood before changes can be made in one's life.

When positive changes are effected in one's life, the individual becomes less sensitive to those negative causes and a happier life follows.

In order to give you an idea of the feelings/thoughts one may have about themselves when suffering from LSE, I am listing 10 statements below that will help you to understand whether or not you also believe some of these statements about yourself.

Examples of statements to determine whether or not you have Low Self-Esteem:

- I find it difficult to hear criticism about myself.
- I tend to magnify my mistakes and minimize my successes.
- I am critical of myself and others.
- I have periods in which I feel devastated and/or depressed.
- I fear making a mistake which others might see.
- I have not accomplished what I am capable of due to fear and avoidance.
- I tend to let fear and anxiety control many of my decisions.
- I try to avoid conflict and confrontation.

How to Help During the Holidays

by Leslye Adelman
The North Hollywood Interfaith Food Pantry

Last year, we put together bags for the homeless that could be kept in our cars and distributed to any homeless person we passed by. This is a tradition that was started by Rabbi Sarah at Seder in the Desert, and will be continued at Mitzvah Day this year, on November 1.

The premise is simple and can be done by any of us at any time. Put together a bag of non-perishable food items, along with utensils and hand wipes. Include toiletries if you can, and information for our North Hollywood Interfaith Food Pantry. Let your children and grandchildren help you fill the bags, and explain to them why it is important to help those who are less fortunate. In lieu of money, give one of these bags to a homeless person you pass by. It will do a lot more for a person than a dollar.

And don’t forget to join us on Mitzvah Day to make more!

I also want to sincerely thank everyone who brought in food for the Pantry's High Holy Day food drive. This food goes a long way toward helping our community. However, just because the High Holy Days are behind us doesn’t mean we at the North Hollywood Interfaith Food Pantry have stopped collecting food. The need is still just as great, and we welcome any donation of non-perishable food items you can make. Just bring a couple of items with you when you come to the Temple and drop them into the collection bin in the lobby. I do, and it truly gives me a great feeling!

As 5776 gets underway, please join all of us at the Pantry in helping to make this the best and most generous year yet. Happy New Year!
Hello and Happy New Year! As we move into 5776, there is a word that I hear used continually, and that word is “meaningful.” I keep hearing people say, “Have a meaningful new year,” or “I hope you have an easy and meaningful fast.” I’ve heard others express a personal desire for meaning in the coming year, as well as regret over the lack of meaning in the year past. But from my perspective, living in the past and living for the future are not the only ways to find meaning. With this new year, I am truly going to try to live more in the present, and to make the present moments more meaningful.

Having said that, I’d like to invite you to join a Temple committee. These committees can bring meaning and purpose to you as a congregant. They can help unite our members as we work together to ensure a fun, relevant and inspirational environment which we can enjoy now, while providing for the future. Being on Temple committees has enabled me to be an active Temple member, and has helped me to find additional warmth and inclusiveness within our congregation. I have met new friends, and have built stronger ties with the people I have known for years. Below is a list of the majority of our committees. Whether you are chat-ty and outgoing, or quieter and reserved there’s a committee for you! Whether you have very little time, or are looking for a place to dedicate much time, there’s a committee for you! Together we can find a committee that’s right for you!

Please look below at all of these groups, and contact me so we can get you more involved right now, and into something very meaningful. You can contact me through the Main Office in the present, and into something very meaningful.

Have a great year, and I look forward to seeing you as we work together to ensure a fun, relevant and inspirational environment which we can enjoy now, while providing for the future. Leadership

Join A Temple Committee!

by Kim Hirsch, Leadership Chairperson

Budget & Finance – Make a detailed evaluation of the current income and expenses for the ensuing year and to prepare a detailed budget for the following year. To prepare at quarterly meetings a review of existing budget and recommend corrections.

Religious School – Similar to a parents association; this committee helps to promote communication and community building between the schools, families and Temple Board. Also, helps to facilitate fundraisers.

Social Action – Alert and inform congregation of social issues confronting society today. To inspire members to apply Jewish ethics to practical solutions of such major social issues.

Early Childhood – Ensure that our various events throughout the school year are successful. There are many opportunities to get involved whether you are a working parent, a stay at home parent or even a grandparent.

Adult Education – Promote educational activities to increase knowledge of Jewish heritage.

House and Grounds – Overseer the care and maintenance of the buildings and property and to recommend rules, regulations and specific suggestions relative to such care and maintenance.

Legal – Advise on any matter that may materially affect the liability of the Temple and to prepare employment contracts for all professional staff.

Religious Practices – Evaluate and oversee the form of worship and music at Temple services. Recommend to Board changes as deemed appropriate.

Leadership Development – Recruit and retain members to chair or join committees; cultivate new board members. Train committee chairs and

Leadership Development

Thank you to all of those whose presence made our High Holy Days worship experience powerful and meaningful.

Song leaders Andy Henry and Julie Noitte, our organist Erik Beltsheim, the choir, and the magnificent band from Rosh Hashanah evening services.

We respect the anonymity of our 12 step service leaders but thank them for arranging this special service.

Howard Blumenfeld for his guided meditation and Chaplain Barbara Singer for leading the Yom Kippur discussion group.

Our senior youth group, HRTY, for leading our youth service on Yom Kippur.

Special thanks to Eric, Elissa, and Michael Goldman who led our George Friedman Shofar Corps class, and our shofar sounders.

Thank you to all of our Torah readers and our Jonah story tellers.

Special thanks to all of our azreem - ushers who went above and beyond assisting congregants and community members in a warm and wonderful manner.

Thank you to David Reff and Freddie Goldberg for leading our usher corps.

Thank you to our lay leaders who joined us on the bimah.

Special thanks to the Temple staff who had many extra hours of special preparation for this holy day season. Thank you to: Executive Director Jonathan Berg, Carlos Mendosa – Head of Maintenance, our entire maintenance crew, and to our staff Leslie Anderson, Beth Giarmona, Nardit Gilboa, Kathryn Jensen, JC McKinley, Mgo Talarian, Jasmine McKay, and Godfrey Verdade.

To Women of TBH for their special oneg at Slichot, to our Board of Trustees for sponsoring the oneg on Rosh Hashanah, to Brotherhood for their break-fast.

Thank you to Bruce Thomas for helping with security, and our security company as it is important for all to feel safe.

Thank you to Claudine Douglas our ECE Director and Youth Engagement Intern Allie Donahoo for arranging our childcare.

Thank you to Micah Miller who coordinated our Sukkah-Paloza extravaganza.

Thank you to all those who participated in our High Holy Day Annual campaign, assisting us in keeping TBH doors open to our members and the wider East Valley community.

Wishing you all a good 5776!
